775    Varner 'El Camino Vineyard,' Santa Barbara County, California, 2014	65
---	----

In, 1980, twin brothers Jim and Bob Varner began their labor of love when they planted Spring Ridge Vineyards in Portola Valley in the northern part of the Santa Cruz Mountain appellation. Bob works in the rows during each harvest, insuring that sorting is done at the vine rather than at the winery. The wine is treated as naturally as possible, using indigenous yeast and malolactic bacteria from the vineyard. The results are without parallel, a stunning unfiltered Chardonnay that shows impeccable balance.

1205 || Kunin 'McGinley Vineyard,' Happy Canyon of Santa Barbara, California, 2012 60

Seth Kunin embodies all of the aspects we look for in a producer—small production, hand-crafted, site specific wines that naturally find their place at the table and consistently outperform their price point. The wines also are a perfect embodiment of Seth as a winemaker as they present noted Central Coast vineyards through the prism of the wines of the Rhône and Loire Valleys that inspired him as a sommelier. It's no wonder that Kunin's wines are found on the best wine lists in America.

Burgundy, 2014 155

1415 || Jean-Philippe Fichet Burgundy, 2014 65

More than any of his peers, Fichet is testing the limits of transparency, to find the very soul of Burgundy's terroirs. Jean-Philippe's 'below the radar' status is likely to soon change, as terroir-driven Meursaults are now reaching a boarder audience of top collectors and restaurants. Fichet's style most closely resembles Roulot's, with riveting focus, purity, delineation, and incredible transparency.

1525	Collestefano Verdicchio di Matelica, Marche, 2015	41

The Matelica zone is further inland and at a higher elevation than the more common Verdicchio di Castelli di Jesi. Matelica wines tend to be brighter and more elegant whereas the Castelli di Jesi wines often have a little more fruit and heft. Collestefano is textbook for the Matelica style—bright and crisp with floral notes and a hint of pine.

Established in 2008, Captûre Wines is inspired by California's frontier spirit while staying true to time-honored French winemaking traditions. Their origins are in steep, remote terroir of the Mayacamas and Vaca mountain ranges. In less than ten years they are turning out some of the most intriguing California cabernets we've seen.

Seamlessly made: their aesthetic is New World and, especially in the late vintages, they embody the technological perfection associated with truly modern wine making.*

------	--	-----

2540	Big Basin 'Lester Vineyard,' Santa Cruz Mountains, California, 2014	100

Big Basin Vineyards was founded in 1998 on a historic site in the Santa Cruz Mountains next to Big Basin Redwoods State Park. This Corralitos vineyard is located only three miles from the Monterey Bay and is one of the cooler sites in California. Pinot Noir from this site shows remarkable finesse and perfumed aromatics reminiscent of Burgundy.

2650 || Mt. Difficulty 'Bannockburn,' Central Otago, New Zealand, 2014 90

The best pinot noir coming out of New Zealand—New Zealand makes pinot?—from one of the most exacting teams in the world of wine. Much like a cool-climate California pinot, the wine displays lovely elegance and flows with striking precision and clarity.

---	----

Having established Pingus as a new benchmark for greatness in Spanish wine, Peter Sisseck has embarked on a new quest: to produce a wine that captures the soul of Ribera del Duero. And he intends to do so by harnessing the passion of the region's growers who have, for far too long, lacked the tools, capital and vision to make wine that is truly "theirs." And thus Ψ PSI was born. The early wines are subtle, delicate, and as compelling as anything seen in modern Spain.
